Yellow warning
Thunderstorm

Between 16:00 Tue 19 Jul 2022 and
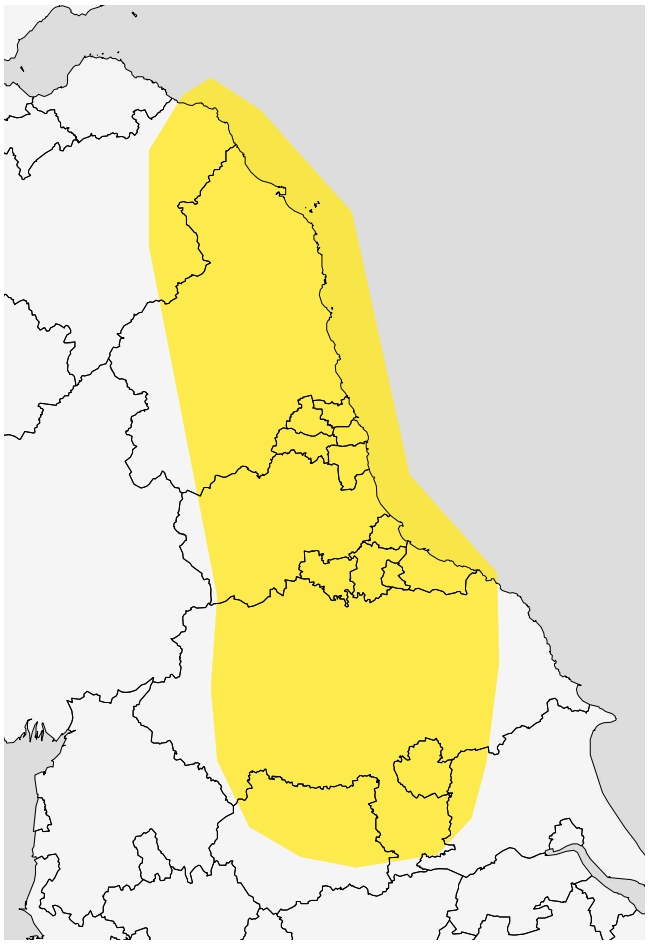
20:00 Tue 19 Jul 2022



Thunderstorms could bring disruption this afternoon from lightning strikes and strong, gusty winds.

What to expect

- Building/structures could be damaged and power supplies maybe interrupted by lightning strikes
- Sudden strong and gusty winds may cause damage to temporary structures with a small chance of flying debris

Further details

Whilst many places will remain dry and hot through this afternoon, isolated thunderstorms are expected to develop across northern England and far southeast Scotland. These will move quickly north with frequent lightning and the potential for localised but very strong winds with gusts of 60 mph possible. Any heavy rain is expected to be short-lived.
